I'm working in Marriott Oakland City Center, as an Human Resources Intern. I learned a lot from everyday work. I get a great sense of achievement from answering phones, I know how busy to be a HR from the huge amount of paper and file work. I know how fun and difficult to interview people or train employees...This real world experience is great fortune for my whole life.

Marriott is a world-wide hotel and lodging facility that provided high quality customer service including dining and recreating. The company has over 3150 lodging properties located in the U.S. and 67 other counties. Marriott Oakland City Center is located in the heart of downtown Oakland's financial district serving business and leisure travelers from all over the world.

I am working for Gamechanger Products, a consulting company. I work as a marketing associate in the marketing department. Since it is a small company, I have to do various kinds of things such as answering the call and taking messages, I also have to search information about the marketing project on the Internet. The project I involve calls “The Black Hole”. In it my job is to contact other companies in order to ask for the quote and sample of the products. During the work, I really learned a lot about marketing. This experience will greatly influence my future career.

Gamechanger helps companies generate more breakthrough innovation, by applying fast, flexible entrepreneurial approaches to the typical innovation model. The company has developed an Alternative Innovation Process combining the best entrepreneurial approaches with the corporate model to generate breakthrough innovations faster, more cost-effectively and with less risk. Gamechanger Products helps companies connect on a deep, intimate level with their “Brand Fanatics” by creating a dedicated panel and two-dialog in brand testing.

The most enjoyable part of the SEP is that I met such a nice boss. She likes to communicate with us and listen to our ideas patiently. I am a business operation intern in a non-profit organization.

I learned how to operate a start-up firm.

SF Public Press – Northern California Newspapers alone have downsized by more than 1,000 employees in the past decade. This forces fewer journalists to attempt to cover larger ground – inevitably some important stories are missed. SF Public Press is a non-profit news organization that aims to fill that void and deliver in depth local journalism not supported by local advertising. SF Public Press currently has 70 professional and volunteer journalists. With over 200 donors SF Public Press was able to expand from a digital to print newspaper in the of 2010. They hope to create a sustainable and replicable for print journalism similar to that of public broadcast

My host company is Zoom Systems. In the first week, I was in Project Management, but last week, I moved to Field Service. In this part, I make a new manual about parts and products of vending machine. The existing manual was made almost 5 years ago, so we needed a new one. It's very useful for the company and exciting for me. I'm very satisfied with this new project and my coworker helping me is a very friendly and kind guy. For making a new manual, I checked problems of pre-manual beforehand and then I decided how I can make new one. I took lots of pictures of parts and I'm making a document about it with a detail description now. Nowadays, I understand better than before about work, because I have to describe everything about work in this manual. In S.F., One of my goals is making a new manual before leaving here.

ZoomSystem is the company that behind zoomshops. Zoomsystem partners with brands to sell products such as ipods, proactive, sephora make-up and more through their patented zoomshop vending machine. After the drastic research and development, Zoomsystem was founded in 2002 and in 2 years they partnered with world market. They are now growing not only in U.S but also internationally.

I am doing an Internship at Metaio in San Francisco. I am certain that this technology will be very much relevant to our everyday life in the near future so I am very excited about it and I am very glad that I can work for Metaio. In Metaio's San Francisco Office there are only 4 employees and they are all originating from different countries so we have a very nice, international and familiar working atmosphere. In my Internship I am dealing with marketing issues like doing an e-mail campaign and working on the social media sites. I also get insights into recruitment, idea generation, web design and many other things. All this comes along with a lot of challenging work for me, but I think that this internship is a great opportunity for me to gain insight and experience in the marketing and IT sectors, the field were I would really like to work in the future.

Metaio is a pioneer of Augment Reality (AR) technology, and develops software products for visual interactive solutions combining real and virtual elements. Metaio associates with number of federal, national and international research projects in this field. They are the leader in Augmented Reality systems and have oversea offices in Germany and South Korea.

I work at Link TV. This company is a non-commercial American satellite television network providing “diverse perspectives on world and national issues.” At this company, I’m in charge of helping a production of ‘Global Pulse’, a channel which provides international political news. My main work is to make a report about specific political topic after gathering information and analyzing it. For instance, recently I have made a report as to Iranian nuclear power plant in Bushehr. My another work is to watch news from major media organizations such as BBC, FOX, Russia Today, Al-Jazeera and so on and after summing up contents of these news, log it on a computer.

Link TV is a national network media organization using digital technology to offer broadcasts on international matters, cultural issues and news that are often not aired in U.S. Link TV’s aim is to “engage” “inform” “inspire” the viewers so that they can have the global perspective to take action for the world. In 1999, Link TV, the first nationwide television network dedicated to providing Americans with global perspectives on news was awarded the coveted FCC “set-aside” non-commercial license on DIRECTV.
